1. Purpose statement
The aim of this learning object is for students to:
- explore the use of the Chinese language within the context of a Children’s Palace in China
- practise their language skills through interactive games and activities.

2. Overview
This learning object consists of a 12-shot animated scenario. Each shot is a different area in a Children’s Palace reflecting a different after school activity. There is a focus on the ways in which school children in China interact, live and play after school. Students can visit the areas in any order, but they must visit all twelve areas.

Students are prompted to complete small tasks that use acquired knowledge to open or access an area of the scenario in order to progress. These tasks could include:
- selecting and dropping correct text from a sidebar to complete speech bubbles or thought bubbles
- selecting and dropping correct images into a thought bubble or shot
- selecting and dragging an audio file to an appropriate item.
Students will also discover and engage with a range of other activities in the learning object.

- Language games and activities are embedded in many of the shots. These may be in the form of matching/concentration, cloze, sequencing, wonder word, listening and responding, or reading comprehension tasks. There are eighteen games or activities in the scenario. Students may choose to engage with these activities or not. These appear in the shot as stars or highlighted items for students to click on.

- Information Points which provide interesting cultural and language information pertinent to the location, situation or language engagement, including deconstructing Hanzi. They may pose questions on which students can reflect or from which they can make their own deductions. These appear in the shot as coloured spheres for students to click on.

- Incidental items in a shot may play an audio when rolled over, such as a Chinese musical instrument, or an MP3 playing music.

3. Language level (Prior knowledge)

Texts are short and based on familiar vocabulary and structures written in Hanzi with audio support. Students can also access a version of the scenario which has both Pinyin and audio support. Written text in most language games and activities has Pinyin support and may have audio support as well, depending on the type of task. The Pinyin conventions as prescribed by the National Committee on the Basic Rules for Hanyu Pinyin Orthography in 1996 have been used throughout this learning object.

Students should be familiar with the language for:
- saying how well someone does something
- asking and giving permission to join something using 可以参加
- asking and saying if they can do certain activities
- describing clothes using number, measure word, colour and other adjectives
- asking and saying what they are doing using 在
- saying what number prize they won in a competition using ordinal numbers
- expressing likes and dislikes
- saying something is ready or done using 做好了
- imperatives using the pattern '[verb] — [verb]'
- asking and saying what the score in a game is.
4. Maximising this learning object
This learning object is best used if students are encouraged to:
- construct knowledge through noticing and observing, discovering and drawing connections
- enquire, question and compare
- reflect on their own beliefs, behaviour and experiences and how they are shaped by their culture(s)
- take responsibility for their own learning, e.g. through self-monitoring.

5. Learning outcomes
Students will enhance their understanding of the relationship between Chinese language and culture and compare and contrast it with their own. Students will come to understand and appreciate language in social, cultural and geographical contexts.

Using language
_Students will learn about:_
- the association between the spoken and written language
- sources of support to enhance comprehension
- ways to use contextual clues and prior knowledge to predict the meaning of new words
- rules in language use.

_Students will learn to:_
- listen to short texts, while following the written form
- use visual stimuli to support and enhance comprehension
- deduce the meaning of unfamiliar words from context
- identify and compare connections between languages, e.g. the use of measure words for clothes, use of the connective 和.

Making linguistic connections
_Students will learn about:_
- the use of formality
- the interpretation of the meaning of words in context
- ways of conceptualising and representing patterns and systems in language
- ways of expressing sounds and meanings in print.
Students will learn to:
➢ recognise how language in use is affected by context, e.g. classroom language, 老师，我可以……
➢ avoid literal translations in some contexts, e.g. 手风琴 (piano accordion), different verbs for musical instruments
➢ develop strategies for internalising new language and building on prior knowledge, e.g. matching games, cloze activities
➢ identify specific features of the written language, e.g. the use of transliteration

Moving between cultures
Students will learn about:
➢ culture-specific conventions of Chinese in social interaction
➢ the importance of tradition to a sense of cultural identity and diversity within the Chinese culture.

Students will learn to:
➢ use formulaic expressions appropriate to the occasion, e.g. 小心！(Take care!) 我饱了。(I'm full.)
➢ identify and explain features of traditional and contemporary lifestyle, e.g. generational and regional differences, ‘One Child Policy’.
6. Information points on culture and language

- Use of 团 and 队.
- Use of 没关系！
- Use of 吧.
- Children’s Palace.
- Using different verbs with musical instruments.
  - 手风琴 (piano accordion).
- Transliteration.
- Traditional Chinese clothing.
- Using 吧 to indicate the present continuous tense.
- Using the connective 和 and Chinese punctuation.
- Chinese painting.
- Four treasures of study.
- Chinese ordinal numbers.
- 下棋 (to play chess).
- Popular board games.
- Soya bean products.
- Question words.
- Kites.
- Using the pattern ‘[verb] 得很 [verb].’
- Using the pattern ‘做了 [verb].’
- Using the pattern ‘[verb] — [verb].’
- Using the expletive 唉哟！
- Morning exercise and eye massage.
- Popular ball games.
7. Intercultural language learning
This learning object provides the opportunity for students to:
- compare their own language(s) and culture(s) with Chinese language(s) and culture(s)
- explore the multiple dimensions of Chinese culture
- develop the capability to engage with difference
- discuss and compare the values, beliefs and attitudes of diverse cultures
- reflect on their own intercultural behaviour
- rethink the conceptions they held before completing the learning object.

8. Cross-curriculum content
- ICT: making associations between text, sound and images to support understanding of Chinese and using samples of language performance by native speakers as models for learning.
- Civics and Citizenship: recognising appropriate intercultural behaviour in diverse settings.
- Difference and diversity: discussing and comparing the values and beliefs of diverse cultures.
- Multiculturalism: identifying cultural values and practices in observing social interaction among community members; recognising that language and behaviour reflect important aspects of culture.
9. Classroom activities
Suggested student activities:

Using Chinese
- Role play the scenes or some of the scenes.
- Build some more phrases using 了 or 队.
- Build some more sentences using the patterns:
  - ...... 得很好
  - ...... 做好了.
- Make some suggestions using 了 and the pattern ‘[verb] 了 [verb]’.
- Ask and say how some Chinese and Australian dishes are made.
- Follow some recipes.
- Conduct surveys to find out who:
  - can play what musical instruments
  - likes playing what games
  and illustrate the results in a graph to show the most popular instruments and games.
- Hold a fashion parade and describe what people are wearing.
- Role play an umpire and keep score in a game of table tennis or other sport.
- Find out the Chinese for some more ball games.
- Build some more sentences with 在 to indicate they are doing something.
- Draw and label clothing using captions or complete sentences.
- Create a table comparing which items of clothing use which measure words.
- List other activities they might do at a Children’s Palace.

The Arts
- Learn to paint the Chinese way.
- Learn to play a simple tune on a Chinese instrument, if practicable.
- Practise calligraphy.
- Make and fly a kite.

Games
- Learn to play some Chinese games.
- Perform Chinese exercises and eye massage.
Society and environment
